

CragRats presentations a success

Initial feedback from schools and CragRats has indicated that the post 16 options tour was a success. Young people in the majority of schools participated in the productions as the actors interacted with audiences to test knowledge and understanding. The workshops provided for some schools after the productions were lively and interactive and again produced positive feedback from all involved. Follow up work is currently ongoing with Connexions planning training days in schools, working with teachers across the county. It would be extremely valuable if work-based learning providers were involved in these training days to show schools what WBL can offer in terms of services and expertise. Speak to your local Connexions Centre to find out how to get involved or contact Barbara Wakefield who is leading on this. Barbara.Wakefield@vtpic.com
