

Working in partnership with the Lifelong Learning Networks

After a very interesting presentation at the York and Selby and Scarborough and Ryedale Network meetings, from Jessica Grant from Higher York and Jenny Shaw from Yorkshire and Humber East Lifelong Learning Network (LLN), it is clear that there are new opportunities for work-based learning providers across York and North Yorkshire to work with the HE sector to encourage progression for learners. A main aim of the LLNs is to increase opportunities for vocational learners in higher education and PiP will be working closely with Jessica and Jenny to raise the awareness of providers, learners and employers and to ensure appropriate progression routes into HE are accessible.
